Never in history has not been so affordable to the wide sections of the population, as at present. But are we actually done to the institute only to get knowledge and a cherished diploma? Currently, it takes particular importance to the Networking, the foundations of which are laid out just in student years. What is it and why it is so important for students, you will learn from this article. What is negging

Noun "NET" translated from English means "Network", and "Work" - "work". In the literal translation of "Networking" will be "a network that works", i.e. It helps a specific individual to adapt in society in a social and professional plan better and faster. It is important to note that the main rule of the work of Networking is the principle of mutual assistance.

As most often, it happens with "new fashionable" words - they are new only on sound. Networking, or in a different way, simply "communications", existed and will always exist. A wide range of friends and acquaintances will help to find a good job, arrange a child in a strong school or get the necessary document. Benefit for students

It is at student age that it is easiest to tie and support many dating that may be useful subsequently, already in adulthood. Do not limit only to communication in classes, expand your geography of dating. It is no secret that many of those who have been bad or so-so went to the university, as a result made a good (if not brilliant) career, it is thanks to useful acquaintances and friendship.

It is also important to be interesting and open to a new interlocutor, sincerely interested in communication. No one wants to communicate with a person who needs only ties. Networking and there is an art to combine wonderful friendships with a tangible benefit from them. How to work on non-massaging

The period of student as it is impossible to better have to form and expand the "network that works." Below are several ways to expand and strengthen non-Metoging:

All sorts of student organizations, including international, are enough to enter them and participate in various events;

Volunteering - find something like you like to study and on what is not a pity of time, then you will truly have fun from the fact that you are helping the neighbor (not needed, for example, to go an assistant to the shelter for cats, if you like dogs - Find what you like, because volunteering is not a job);

Make business cards and do not forget about social networks. If you are in the process of finding a job, do not fail unobtrusively remind of this with your acquaintances.

The main rule of non-Metoging is not to forget about the old contacts. Dating will disappear from the memory, if not remind of yourself. Do not wait for the initiatives from others, focus on what you work for yourself. Tips for introverts

For closed and fierce people, Net Maging can be a real test. If you are an introvert, remember that:
Quality is often more important than quantity;
should appreciate and develop already existing contacts;
It is necessary to be an active user of a powerful weapon of modern - social networks.

Invest in your future - Develop Non-Maging!
